

by concussion w/blown ear drums & one cut from flying debris. Graef & Buttolph awarded Bronze Stars & Robertson, Dorough & Hodgson the PH.

A few weeks later there was a change of command for the 183rd as we recieved a new CO, Major Willis Manley. Major Manleys' 1st command order to us was to arm ourselves and secure as much ammunition as we could. "Men, never, as long as I am your CO, will you ever be disarmed again". Several weeks later we had a new 1st Sgt. too.
